Prof. Kwame Anthony Appiah

25th June 2024, 7:00 pm

Dynamic Identities and Their Creative Potentials

Prof. Kwame Anthony Appiah spent his childhood in Ghana and England, has taught philosophy on three continents and is currently professor at New York University. His talk will highlight the potentials of dynamic identities in literatures and thus marks the start of the new literary series by stimmen afrikas. The Hamburg-based writer Lubi Barre, born in France, raised in Somalia and the U.S., will perform some of her poetry. TV-moderator Liz Shoo will enter a discussion with both guests on the potentials of international and dynamic biographies which offer a rich, diverse, and flexible repertoire of skills and experiences.

Ghost Season

Fatin Abbas, born in Khartoum/ Sudan and raised in New York, earned her PhD in Comparative Literature from Harvard University, and her MFA in Creative Writing from Hunter College, New York. She will read from her debut novel Ghost Season followed by a discussion with Prof.

Fatin Abbas

Kwame Anthony Appiah and South African moderator donna Kukama (Professor of Contemporary Art / Global South at KHM). The five central characters in Abbas' novel, set in current Sudan, reveal intimate and unexpected experiences of personal belongings and boundaries. How do the panelists view these dynamic identities, also with regard to their specific backgrounds and personal "Wings with Roots"?
